

Good Web Sites for Elementary School Children

READING & LANGUAGE ARTS

*The Big Busy House

<http://www.harperchildrens.com/>

Explains how a book is made. Create your own stories. Links to children's authors.

*Joshua's Imagination Station

<http://www.geocities.com/>

Links to fables and other stories you can read on-line.

*The Internet Public Library Story House

<http://ipl.sils.umich.edu/youth/storyHour/>

Traditional and new stories. Some stories are illustrated by kids.

*Stone Soup

<http://www.stonesoup.com>

Stone Soup is a well-known magazine of stories, poems, and artwork by kids, for kids. Here at their home page you can peek at a sample issue, plus read some online stories and poems. Maybe you'll be able to send them some of your own work!

*Author/Illustrator - Jan Brett

<http://www.janbrett.com>

This is one of the best sites for children. Packed with autobiographical information and fun activities.

*Authors/Illustrators - Audrey and Don Wood

<http://audreywood.com>

Another great site for children. Lots of fun information and activities.

*American Girl

<http://www.americangirl.com>

Fun information and things to do for girls.

Author Dr. Seuss

<http://www.randomhouse.com/seussville>

Have lots of fun with the Cat in the Hat.

Parents and Children Together Online

http://www.indiana.edu/~eric_rec/fl/pcto/menu.html

The magazine's goal is to further the cause of family literacy by bringing parents and children together through the magic of reading. PCTO features original stories and articles for children, suitable for reading aloud. A special section for parents features articles on issues related to children's reading and writing and book reviews of recent children's literature.

The Children's Literature Web Guide

<http://www.acs.ucalgary.ca/~dkbrown/index.html>

Author Patricia Polacco

<http://www.patriciapolacco.com/>

Little House on the Prairie

<http://www.pinc.com/~jenslegg/>

The J.R.R. Tolkien Information Page

<http://www.csclub.uwaterloo.ca/u/relipper/tolkien/rootpage.html>

Author Cynthia Rylant

<http://www.rylant.com/>

Author Dav Pilkey

www.pilkey.com

